Basic Course on Statistical Packages for Health Research on 24th to 25th August 2016

Statistical packages are widely being used in healthy research. Faculty should be abreast with the basic statistical concepts and the use of packages. This will not only help them guide their residents, but also help them in carrying out research.

Department of Community Medicine and Medical Education Technology Unit, Dr D Y Patil Medical College are organising a Training Course to cover these aspects.

The main emphasis will be to develop hands – on- skills rather than dwell upon tedious formulas and theory.

Date : 24-25 August 2016
